I created this character as a powerful royal figure inspired by ancient Chinese emperors, focusing on authority, elegance, and premium slot-game appeal. The design uses rich red and gold robes, ornate details, and a strong serious expression

I created this Indian princess character from an initial grayscale sketch to a fully rendered final version. The design focuses on elegance, grace, and royal charm, with detailed jewelry, rich traditional clothing, and soft facial features that bring out a regal yet warm personality.

I created this butler character for a detective series game, from grayscale sketch to final render. The design focuses on a classy, refined personality with a warm expression, formal outfit, and serving props that fit the mystery theme.

I created this mansion owner character for the same detective series game, from grayscale sketch to final render. The design focuses on elegance, confidence, and a hint of mystery, with a glamorous outfit and card props that add to her secretive personality.

I created this detective character for the same mystery game, from grayscale sketch to final render. The design focuses on a sharp, confident personality with a classic coat, hat, and pipe that give him a stylish old-school detective feel.

I created this sheriff character for a post-apocalyptic game, from grayscale sketch to final render. The design focuses on a rugged survivor personality, with worn-out western clothing, battle scars, and a shotgun that gives him a tough lawman feel.
